Remote Part - time Writers

The Green Connection (GC) is an environmental and social justice organization, striving for eco justice, community empowerment and resource advocacy. GC is running a 'Who Stole Our Oceans' campaign, which aims to protect the ocean through opposing offshore oil and gas developments and informing coastal communities about the negative impacts of Operation Phakisa (specifically offshore oil and gas projects). Such as the nuclear deal that was stopped by civil society in 2017. The government's drive on oil and gas appears to raise similar concerns.

Background on climate justice and energy

Investing in more fossil fuels is not a shift to renewable energy, as a country that signed a Paris agreement to reach net-zero emissions. The drive to invest in fossil fuels is concerning, as the consequences of climate change are already being experienced by impoverished communities – The Green Connection foresees a future where oceans are protected against offshore oil and gas for the next generation. Research reports that we have conducted show the negative economic impacts that oil and gas will pose and further evidence proves that putting money into the industry will only head us to a climate disaster.
